The Paradox of our Time - by George Carlin

*We've learned how to make a living, but not a life;
we've added years to life, not life to years.*

We've been all the way to the moon and back, but have trouble crossing the street to meet the new neighbor.

We've conquered outer space, but not inner space.

We've done larger things, but not better things.

We've cleaned up the air, but polluted the soul.

We've split the atom, but not our prejudice.

We write more, but learn less.

We plan more, but accomplish less.

We've learned to rush, but not to wait.

*We build more computers to hold more information to produce more copies than ever,
but have less communication.*

*These are the times of fast foods and slow digestion; tall men, and short character;
steep profits, and shallow relationships.*

*These are the times of world peace, but domestic warfare; more leisure, but less fun;
more kinds of food, but less nutrition.*

*These are days of two incomes, but more divorce;
of fancier houses, but broken homes.*

These are days of quick trips, disposable diapers, throw-away morality, one-night stands, overweight bodies, and pills that do everything from cheer to quiet, to kill.

*It is a time when there is much in the show window and nothing in the stockroom;
a time when technology can bring this letter to you,*

and a time when you can choose either to share this insight, or to just hit delete.
